Background

Jill Willows was someone who cared deeply about the rural community and the role of young people in shaping the future of rural life. The Jill Willows Scholarship is particularly targeted at those considering a career in the rural sector.

The John Oldacre Foundation awarded £1m to the University to provide funding for scholarships to be match funded by other charities or industry partners.

Opportunities

If awarded, the successful recipient(s) will receive an award payable for one year only valued up to a maximum of £1,500.

The award will be paid in two equal parts; 75% to be paid in February 2027 and the remaining balance in May 2027. Payment is conditional on the scholar(s) remaining registered as a full-time student at Harper Adams University or the Harper and Keele Veterinary School. They must pass all modules of study during the continuation of the scholarship and submit a letter of thanks for the sponsor to the Development Trust prior to the receipt of each payment.

This is a competitive award which will be evaluated on the merit of the submitted application, academic achievements to date and interview. The Development Trust embraces diversity and promotes equality of opportunity and access to higher education. The Trust has been successful in supporting a wide range of
